Description

Currently there's no way to jump to a song being played and that becomes a real issue when your playlist is sufficiently large/long.

As such it would be nice if Audacious showed a song being played in the status bar and if the user clicks on it, Audacious jumps to it (showing the song in the middle of the screen whenever possible).

- Status changed from New to Rejected

- 1) The song being played is shown in the title bar so there is no need to show it in the status bar as well.
- 2) Press "escape" to jump to the currently playing song.

Escape? That's horribly unobvious, but as a developer you know better. :(
