

Audacious - Bug #72

LADSPA plugins dialog are with fixed size

February 18, 2012 10:20 - klo nuo

Status:	Rejected	Start date:	February 18, 2012
Priority:	Minor	Due date:
Assignee:		% Done:	0%
Category:	plugins/ladspa	Estimated time:	0.00 hour
Target version:
Affects version:
Description
LADSPA plugins dialogs are with fixed size, making most of them unusable as controls are hardly accessible

History

#1 - February 23, 2012 21:48 - John Lindgren

Please tell us what version of Audacious you have and what window manager you are using, as I can't reproduce.

#3 - February 23, 2012 22:40 - John Lindgren

- Category set to plugins/ladspa

#4 - February 24, 2012 05:19 - klo nuo

It's latest 3.2.1 Audacious, running on Ubuntu 11.04 with Compiz as window manager (which is set by default on Ubuntu)

Here is screenshot: <http://i.imgur.com/Di3vz.png>

Visuals are by gtk-oxygen engine. As you can see, mouse pointer is in lower right corner w/o possibility to enlarge the window and use the sliders for this particular plugin. It's at this size for every LADSPA plugin. It wasn't like that when I first tried official Ubuntu version of Audacious (don't remember version number)

#5 - February 28, 2012 03:07 - John Lindgren

How is this unusable? All the controls look accessible to me.

#6 - March 04, 2012 12:36 - klo nuo

No they don't. Sliders are missing: <http://i.imgur.com/LCy7S.png>

#7 - March 10, 2012 04:59 - John Lindgren

- Status changed from New to Rejected

There are no sliders in the new LADSPA plugin; you have to use the numeric entry fields.