Description
It would be great if Audacious had a way to browse a music collection as a grid of album (or artist) art.
Something like the interface of Musique: https://flavio.tordini.org/musique
(Note that this player doesn't have half of the features of Audacious though)

- Status changed from New to Rejected

This would be a feature better suited for a heavier-weight, database-based player. Audacious really just wasn't designed to support something like this.
