Eventually, the day will come when the Audacious team will strongly recommend preferring the forum over the bug tracker as long as important details are missing. Where is the stacktrace for your crash? Where is the output from "audacious -V"? Where is the file that crashes the player for you reproducibly? And do you refer to WAV or WavPack? WavPack is something entirely different than WAV. Have you built/enabled the "Sndfile Plugin" based on libsndfile? Which version of the libsndfile library is it? Which version of Ubuntu is it? And clearly, Audacious 3.6.2 is not broken with regard to WAV files. It works flawlessly on Fedora for me, FWIW.
