Description
I would like to request a feature to save soundfont lists, such as when you load several soundfont instrument files, you could save that list, load different soundfonts, and then load the previous list with a click.

It would be great if you could write a patch to do this. Even more so if it worked in the Qt interface as well (which doesn't support any changing of SoundFonts yet).

Closing since this seems to be a very "niche" feature and no patch has been provided.
